

ICAR-IVRI celebrated the National Constitution Day

IVRI celebrated the national constitution day on 26.11.2024 to commemorate the vibrant constitution of India. The event was attended by more than 60 participants and was graced by the registrar of the institute Dr. P. K. Jain who highlighted the importance of the Indian constitution. He also emphasized that Indian constitution is the largest in the world and is equidistant from all religions, teaches us justice, equality and liberty and is responsive to change. Many amendments have been made to our constitution since independence to make it evolve and develop for the benefit of the society. Dr. Jain also emphasized on the importance of fundamental rights and how to use them responsibly. The event was also graced by the Joint Director, IVRI Mukteswar campus who encouraged students to work hard and sincerely in their field of work with utmost discipline and also shared his views on the importance of the National constitution day. The programme was coordinated by Dr. S. K. Saha, Dr. Himani Dhanze and Dr. Ayon Tarafdar.
